MILAN FASHION WEEK MOVES UP TWO DAYS

Milan has moved up its next women's ready-to-wear season by two days in the latest twist to the international fashion calendar for 2008. As a result, the next Milan fashion week — showing fall 2008 collections — will open Feb. 16 and will finish on Feb. 23. Camera della Moda, Italian fashion's governing body, said it moved up the dates to close the gap with Paris fashion week — also showing fall 2008 collections — which takes place from Feb. 24 through March 2. — FWWJ
